

About MyMoneySense

MyMoneySense is a financial planning digital service jointly developed by the Ministry of Manpower and Government Technology Agency. Leveraging technology as the enabler, we aim to make financial planning easier for Singaporeans.

2 The current version of MyMoneySense is our first step towards delivering a one-stop service that provides trusted, personalized, and actionable guidance in personal finance. Key features for the beta service include:

- Expense manager – a budgeting tool to help Singaporeans review their spending and set up a new budget to cope with financial challenges
- Active savings module – a 3-step guide to help young working adults save better and achieve their emergency fund and goals.

3 In the coming months, the service will be enhanced with more features to support an automatic consolidation of financial information from public and private sources as well as enhanced guidance in financial planning. We will also progressively expand the service over the next few years to cover financial needs of people across different life stages.
